A Short Chapter on L. F. Grover, the Politician and Grouse.

La Fayette Grover is a candidate for the State Senate on the Democratic ticket of this county. As Jefferson once said of the French La Fayette, he has a canine thirst for popularity." Timid and time serving in practice those who used to know him best generally acquiesced in the truth of the cruel sneer which Bush passed upon him during the famous Bush and Lane controversy in 1859-60. "Grover is a sexual mistake, he was intended for a woman." He should have been called "Grouse Grover" for like that prudent bird he instinctively takes to the highest and most covert places during the blaze of the day and in the hour of danger. He has always nominally belonged to the Democratic party and has generally compelled them to reward him well for it on the plea of his availability acquired by means of selfish personal alliances with individuals and special interests of the opposite party.

He never comes before the public except as an advocate of Mr. Grover—indeed through all the vicissitudes of politics he has always proved true to that only permanent plank in his platform—he himself. Although he deserted his old friend, Judge Nelson, in the location fight of 1851—although he threw off on Harding and Bush after they had sent him to Congress in 1858—although he played a double part with Delazon Smith in the hope to beat him for the Senate in 1859—although he ultimately abandoned Lane through fear of Bush, and played the selfish neutral with Stout because the latter was nominated for Congress over himself, yet we give him credit for always and everywhere being a strong and consistent Grover man.

In 1862 when the Democratic ticket was running against the strong tide of the war with the certainty of defeat, Grover kept aloof from the party councils, at least in public, would accept no nomination or make no speeches. The prudent Grouse kept out of harm's way and wisely eschewed politics in what he called "factious times, and like Iago thought the most profitable occupation he could engage in, would be "to put money in his purse."

But in 1865 he fancied he saw a chance of success—a success almost personal in the nomination of his brother in law, the Rev. C. F. Smith for Congress. Then comes he forth from his lurking place and publicly presides over the Democratic convention, in which he actually had the moral courage—shall we say also the pitiful meanness?—to abuse the poor negroes, the only people he ever had the courage to abuse in his life. To day, if they had the right of suffrage he would delight to call them "our esteemed fellow citizens of African descent," and show them how the Democratic party from the days of Martin Van Buren and Dick Johnson, down to the time, and including the administration of Andrew Johnson himself, had always striven to give them social and political equality with their white brethren.

The war at last having proved a success and not "a failure" as the Democratic platform of 1864 affirmed and prophesied, our political Grouse, wanting Union votes, talks war until you can almost see the thunderbolts of Jupiter leaping from his hand, and the fumes of brimstone issuing from his nostrils. He had a brother in the war (who is not a Copperhead like himself,) and you would imagine that he had gone the length even of Artemus Ward and sacrificed all his wife's male relations in the cause of his country. Indeed the Herald reports him as boasting in one of his late speeches as being on the fight himself—referring to his career in our Indian troubles as evidence of his love of war. But what say our chronicles of those times? In the winter of 1855 and '56, when this country was engaged in an Indian war, our valiant warrior enlisted for a Major, but the matter being put to vote, the regiment elected Major Armstrong, and Grover came back from wars to the peaceful pursuits of civil life. These are cheap laurels and badly faded Mr. Grover never was it powder, or saw the whites of the enemies' eyes, so he outs rather a poor figure in attempting the warrior's rote. That is not his style. His fine feminine organization and delicate sensibility to the danger of defeat will never allow him to successfully sustain such a character.

The most notable act of Mr. Grover's in connection with the Indian war, was that of getting himself appointed one of the Commissioners to audit the accounts, for which he received the sum of $4,000, although he spent much of the time in securing his nomination and election to Congress. The auditing was a farce. Every man who had a vote had his claim allowed, whether good or bad, and thus the payment of meritorious claims was delayed for years to the injury of the country and the ruin of many deserving men. We believe Grover proposes to put the present war debt through the same process, but from such a misfortune, let the bond holders pray—"Good Lord deliver us."

In yesterday morning's Herald, Grover has a card indignantly denying that he was the "lawyer" of the treasonable organization called the "Old Guard" or "Jones Family." In this he takes occasion to boast about the past as follows:

As to my opinions and conduct touching secret political organizations, I have been upon record. I began fighting and defeating "Know Nothings" and continued in denouncing Loyal Leagues" and all secret partisan organizations.

Our political Grouse is a brave man after the fact. He is altogether mistaken about his record. He never fought the "Know Nothings" to any extent until after they were whipped, and then only in the mildest manner possible. The truth is he never fought anything except the negroes, and he knew they could not help themselves. The men once known as the "Salem clique" fought the "Know Nothings" and killed them—mainly through the passage of the test oath law. Until that was accomplished it was uncertain which way the Territory would go, and Grover true to his "straddling" course kept aloof. During the following summer he ran for the Assembly in Marion county and was elected of course. The "Know Nothings" were practically defeated before Grover came out from his hiding place, and during the canvass even, he left to Bush and others the work of fighting the "Know Nothings," while he hopped around playing the conciliatory dodge and trying to please everybody for his own benefit.

Again, Grover's plan of repudiating the war debt by taxing it is eminently characteristic of the man. Knowing well that the proposition to do this directly by taxing the bonds as holly proposes is unconstitutional and unjust, he lacks the boldness to maintain it. But thinking there are votes in the scheme he proposes to do it—and how? Why issue new bonds and provide that these shall be taxed. To whom will the new bonds be issued? Not to the present bond holders for they can only be paid in money. Besides, there is no difference in the impolicy and pernicious effect of taxing the present bonds or compelling holders to receive others in place of them and then taxing these new issues. Your new bonds must be issued then as a loan to obtain and pay the old ones. Who is going to take them? You cannot compel any one to do so. And suppose they are taken it must be at an advance. Irate of interest to compensate for the taxation. We in Oregon might collect two per cent taxes on the small amount of bonds likely to be held here, and the United States would collect the same rates from us to help pay the increased interest on the whole debt which would be principally owned in the large cities and out of Oregon. This would be robbing one person to pay another for nobody's benefit except the tax gatherer—and probably Mr. Grover's. If he can succeed in making some votes by it. It is eminently a Groverish scheme. But furthermore, Grover knows that even Congress could not authorize the States to tax the loans of the United States. The power to borrow money is given to the National Government by the Constitution, and the Supreme Court by a series of decisions during the last forty years have, with singular unanimity, maintained that this power cannot be taxed by the State governments, or controlled or hampered by State legislation. Congress cannot abdicate the powers of the National Government to the States, or authorize them to subject those powers in any way to the caprices or constraints of State policies or enactments.

We here leave L. F. Grover. We have given more than usual attention to his history and sayings because we have reason to believe he is less understood by the people of this county than any other man on the Democratic ticket. The object is to elect him if possible, even at the sacrifice of every other Democratic candidate in nomination. Having stood by and let the Democratic party take care of itself during the dangers of the war to suppress the rebellion, he now comes forward without a record, and proposes to make one to suit the occasion.

We would not be unjust to Mr. Grover. We do not deny him culture, some ability and mere respectability. But as a politician, he is timid, or even cowardly, and full of small dodges in public affairs he is only active for himself, and we fear he will end his political career as he began it—not "fighting the Know Nothings," but watching the chances and working for Grover.

Democratic Check.

Every intelligent reader who has not become demented by party fanaticism, will remember that the Democratic party had less to do with the rebellion than any other political party in the country.—Herald

If that is not very brassy "cheek," it will hereafter be difficult to define what "cheek" is. Who did get up the rebellion? Jeff. Davis, Jno. B. Floyd, Robert Toombs, Yancey, Slidell, Hunter, Rhett, Wigfall, Breckinridge, Beauregard and Wise, (we might fill this column with names of prominent Democrats who assisted), were all Democrats, were they not? Or were they Union men? and did they fight on the Union side?

It was the Democratic party which rebelled against the Government. There were no Republicans in the United States, and very few Douglas Democrats, who had then or now, the stain of rebellion on their garments. Nobody but Democrats had anything to do with the rebellion, except to fight it down. Nobody but Democrats fought for the rebellion, and nobody but Democrats, in the North, served as spies and Confederates in its interest; nobody in the North but Democrats sympathized with the rebel cause. All this was patent at the time, and is just as well remembered by everybody as are the events of yesterday or to-day. The editor of the Herald knows that he opposed coercion and discouraged enlistments, and he knows that everybody else know that to be exactly what the Democratic party of the North had promised the Democratic party of the South to do, as their part of the general scheme of breaking up the Union.

THE WOLF CRIES "WOLF" AGAIN.—The following "Wolf" cry is, from that virtuous shee, which ventilated the dispatch in relation to Gen. Grant's reasons for urging an immediate increase of the regular army for service on the frontier and at the South:

Prescription for opinion's sake seems to be the order of the day in Portland at present. In proof of this we state the following:

The contractor engaged in digging a cellar for Mr. Carter on his lot on Front street, had threatened three or four Irish laborers that they were Democrats.

A man named Cook, engaged in the hop factory, hired a man named Denny to grade a lot for him for a stipulated sum. Finding that Denny had signed the Democratic Club roll, he refused to let him perform the contract, and hired a negro to do the same work, paying him five dollars more than he had agreed to pay Denny.

Now, in relation to the first, we have the authority of Mr. C. M. Carter and Mr. John Nestor, the contractor upon the work, for stating that the Herald's paragraph is an unqualified falsehood; that no inquiry was ever made in relation to the men's politics; that they were not discharged for holding any political or other opinion, but on the ground of inefficiency as laborers; and that two of the discharged men are Union men.

In relation to the second charge, Mr. Cook authorizes us to say that the Herald's paragraph is totally false; that his grading was done three weeks before the organization of the Democratic Club; that no man was turned off on account of political or any other opinions; that he did not discharge any man at all, nor refuse to fulfill any contract relating to such grading.

Whenever we find in the Herald any "wolf" alarm, we know that the "political vagrant" who conducts it, has made himself the "objectest sinner" of them all in the very matter about which he raises the howl.

The conductor of that paper recently discharged from his employment two printers, not because they were not good workmen, but because they were Union men and he wanted to make room for copperheads. The act was so despicably mean and so contrary to the usages of all respectable printing establishments, that another printer then at work in the Herald office—and a Democrat—indignantly threw down his stick and left in disgust, preferring to take his chances elsewhere, to longer remaining in the employment of a concern which thus prosecutes Union men or anybody else for "opinion's sake." Another printer of whose politics we have no knowledge, left the Herald's employment for the same reason—because of mean and petty "proscriptions for opinion's sake."

"RATHER HARD ON THE JEWS" is the title of an article in the Herald of yesterday (the 28th) and which closes as follows:

If any of them vote the radical [Union] ticket next Monday, they deserve to "be greenbacked;" they deserve the treatment Cooke resorted to "to get even" on them; they deserve to have their vote bought for $5, by Stitzel, and to be knocked down by the hired bullies of Woods over twenty cents worth of butter.

The Herald has once or twice referred in very confident terms to what it is pleased to call the "Jew vote" claiming it as Democratic. We have not before referred to this matter because we know the vote of that class of our people to be divided, that it cannot by any means be claimed as a "vote" by any party in the sense of a clannish vote. They are mostly a shrewd and intelligent people arriving as quickly as most other men at conclusions, based on judgment and facts. A good many of them, we think a majority, are Union men and will vote the Union ticket straight, from convictions of right. Mr. Rosenheim, one of the same faith, is a candidate on the Union ticket.

How do our Israelite friends like to hear it said of them, because they exercise their own judgments and upon convictions of right, vote the Union ticket, that they "deserve to be greenbacked?" How do they like to hear it said, because they will not vote to suit the Herald that they "deserve to have their votes bought for $5?" Because they choose to vote the Union ticket, do they think they "deserve to be knocked down by hired bullies?" That is what the Herald says and no doubt what the Herald thinks.

The Herald's pretended information about Stitzel's opinion that he could buy the votes of "the Jews," as the Herald delights to call them, is an electioneering roorback, without foundation either of fact or suspicion. No one of that faith will testify that Stitzel or any other candidate on the Union ticket has manifested so mean an estimate of them as that he could buy them. Nobody but the Herald has chosen to publicly or privately associate them with the venal idea of buying and selling votes. Nobody else seems to have that contempt for them.

If any of them think the democratic party, the party to adhere to, and choose to vote that ticket, they have the same right as other men, to do so. And we do not think they either deserve to be "greenbacked," "bought," or "knocked down" for doing it. That style of thing was played out, when the loyal men of the country whipped the Chivalry which was trying to destroy the Union.

An Extraordinary Spectacle.

Hardly more than a year ago a most atrocious and fiendish rebellion was being prosecuted against the Union and the laws by the Southern traitors. The ravages of war were disregarded by these barbarous rebels, and the most horrible enormities were practiced upon our captured soldiers. The world has been moved with horror at the sickening recital of the deliberate starvation of more than fifty thousand loyal men by the traitors who had given themselves up to doing the work of demons and assassins. More than this, the whole land has been made to flow with blood by these guilty traitors, so that there is not now, even after the lapse of time, a household which is not in mourning. But notwithstanding all this, what do we behold? Let this language tell:

To the wonderful and arrangement of the people these same men [rebel leaders and Copperheads, within a year back in their accursed treason, before the graves of our unnumbered dead are green—before the bones of our men torn from the Southern regions—while the bones of our martyrs still whiten the Southern soil—walk the republic South holds with disdain, and leaves with suppressed contempt—these men boldly come before the people and demand the right to equal privileges with those who have saved the Government from destruction at their own fireside. And because Congress refuses this claim, they denounce the representatives of the people as disunionists and factionists. The madness of the leaders in this contest, that a great party is being formed against the Union organization whose only hope is the restoration of these traitors to their former political rights, and whose only object is the possession of the Government by those who have tried through a sea of blood to destroy it. Not a year above their desperate conspiracy was even a memory, and yet they clamor with their old insolence for the right to rule the country. Congress asks for no punishment, no banishment, no scaffolds. There is no demand for blood. They only ask that these traitors, dripping with loyal blood, shall not step from treason into power, shall not ride a wave that they tried to ruin, shall not accomplish in legislative halls what they failed to compass on the field of battle. And for this they are denounced!"

The great Union party holds the same position it held during the war. It insists to-day, as it has always done, that treason is a crime. It demands that traitors be "compelled to take a back seat in the work of restoration"—and that the Government shall be controlled and administered by loyal men. It does not cry for vengeance; it is only resolved that "traitors, dripping with loyal blood, shall not step from treason to power."

"A CARD."—Mr. Grover has published a "card" denying that he was a member of the "Old Guard." We expected from the first that he would deny it. Geo. R. Holm denies that he belonged to it, and yet S. S. Markham, a well known and reliable citizen of Linn county, says that Holm administered the oath to him, Markham, having first deceived him as to the nature of the order. In due time we suppose Tom Caton will publish a "card" denying that he was a member, notwithstanding his confession of it, to the hearing of which several creditable witnesses testify. In due season we suppose Mosher, that incorruptible patriot, will leave a "card" denying that he was a member of the order, notwithstanding he confesses it in his letter to "Dear Mac." Denial is a part of the tactics of the "Old Guard."

From New Orleans.

A FUNNY STATE OF AFFAIRS—APPEALING TO ANDY JOHNSON

(Correspondence of The Chicago Republican.)

NEW ORLEANS, March 20

A rather funny state of affairs exists here just now. Everybody who feels aggrieved, either in private or public affairs, expresses a determination at once to appeal to Andy Johnson.

John Smith wants pay at the rate of $200 a month for rent of his building, occupied as a hospital while he was, like a modern Napoleon, staying the infernal Yankees in Texas. Away he goes off, a threatening tone of his rebellious head, and the exclamation, "I'll see Andy Johnson about this!" laying particular stress on "Johnson."

A played-out rebel goes to Mexico or Brazil and failing to be made Minister of State in either country, comes back and finds his house occupied by the Freedmen's Bureau as a colored orphans' school.

"I want my house."

"We are not prepared to give it up upon a moment's notice."

"Will you give up my premises or not?"

"We cannot do it, sir, immediately."

"Very well! Your day is nearly past, any way; I give Andy Johnson a few more licks at your abolition concern and there'll be nothing left of it. I'll let him know of your actions." And with a triumphant smile he goes out.

A row on the street. "What's the matter?" says a reconstructed reb, who has not yet discarded his gray uniform. "Matter," says the other, very bitterly. "Why, a nigger has been giving me some of his Yankee impudence, and, when I kicked him for it, he collared me like a bloodhound, and this infernal Yankee officer would not allow me to shoot him. I wish you had 'em back for a little while."

"Never mind," says the other. "Just let Andy Johnson get hold of 'em."

"There's success," said a violent reb, in a trust, the other night, "to Robert E. Lee, Andy Johnson, and the memory of Stonewall Jackson." And the party drank it amid great enthusiasm.

The following scene occurred in the street cars yesterday. It was a star car fcer, designed alone for colored people, but was filled with whitey, mostly men. A fine looking mulatto woman entered, carrying a child. No one offered her a seat until she reached the front door, when a dashing young fellow, threat of whom his proclaimed him to be a "New York boy" (you can always tell them), arose and offered his. A couple of long-haired, villainous-looking, tobacco-spitting fellows, sitting opposite, whose want of politeness would stamp them as Southerners, proceeded to make offensive remarks about this act upon the part of the young man, and niggers and Yankees generally.

After proceeding for some time, one of them finally said: "I'll give up my seat to a Southern woman or a Southern man, but a d—d Yankee or nigger may stand I guess them both on the same footing."

The young man, who had until now been silent, turned to them leisurely, and said very coolly: "It is annoying to give up one's seat, but feelings of pity sometimes get the better of me. Now, for instance, when a sick nigger, or a poor devil of a reb, comes in, I always give him a seat. It's a very little matter to me you know, and I guess those tinderate people around will be good to show them you are not proud. They have both been wounded, both are poor, both are ignorant, and I feel for them. The only thing I object to is their filthy habits. If they would scrub their faces, shear their heads and learn better than to squirt tobacco spittle on the seats, I should have given a have for them; but they'll come to it yet, they only require time and education."

And out went the New Yorker, smiling in the most pleasant manner possible, but leaving loud and long curses behind him.

It is thought these inspired rebs will tell Andy.

The fact is, Andy is the natural brother of these people. He has married Uncle Sam, and for the present controls the household. Many of Sam's children bite these pets of the family's dog in the stomach, they forthwith howl to Andy. "I'll tell Andy," and away they go to their mother. Andy pats them on the back, gives them bread and butter, and, with their mouths full of greasy pap, they indistinctly articulate to Brother Jonathan, who sits laughing at them, "There, sir, I told you so!" ITL.

PACIFIC RAILROAD.—A Washington dispatch of April 21st says:

Quartermaster General Meigs has written a letter urging the immediate construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad, and showing that the vast saving in expense to the Government in the transportation of troops and supplies will amply compensate the Government for the aid asked by the company. General Grant has placed the following indorsement upon it:

HEADQUARTERS ARMIES OF THE UNITED STATES, WASHINGTON, April 24th

The construction of a railroad by the proposed route would be of very great advantage to the Government particularly, by saving in the cost of transportation to supply troops whose presence in the country through which it is proposed to pass is made necessary by the great amount of immigration to the gold-bearing regions of the Rocky Mountains. In my opinion the United States will receive an additional benefit by the construction of this road, by the settlement it would induce on the line of the road, and consequently, the less number of troops necessary to secure order and safety, and for these benefits should be compensated by the General Government beyond the grant of land already awarded by Congress. I would merely give it as my opinion that the enterprise of constructing the Northern Pacific Railroad is one well worth fostering by the General Government, and such aid could well be afforded as would insure the prosecution of the work. U. S. GRANT, Lieutenant General.

TERRIBLE AFFRAY BETWEEN WHITEMAN AND NEGRO SOLDIERS.—A fatal affray recently occurred near San Antonio, Texas. Captain Nolen, of the Thirteenth Regiment of negro cavalry, was sent, with fifteen men, to arrest a bootlegger. The name of Porter, who had killed an old gentleman last August, and for whose arrest no order had been issued. A son of the murdered man informed Captain Nolen that Porter and his comrade would be at a neighboring house to attend a wedding. The Captain went to the house with a squad, entered it, placed his hand on Porter's shoulder, and ordered him to surrender. A fusillade stopped the appeal that followed through his wrist. A bowie-knife then shot the wounded dead. Porter drew a pistol and shot Captain Nolen in the breast, near his heart, the ball coming out near the shoulder. The Captain then shot Porter dead, and mortally wounded two others. By this time the soldiers had entered the house, where they drew up in line and were ready to fire into the crowd when Nolen stopped them, admonishing them not to kill the women. Twenty of the wedding company were arrested and are under heavy guard. The recovery of Captain Nolen is doubtful.

John B. Weller, whose name is notorious throughout the world as a traitor to his country, as a foe of a Republic, and a pirate of treason, has his thumb-paper indictment to speak at the Court House on Saturday. We learn that he intends going with the Rev. Cartwright Smith to Brownsville on next Tuesday. We would advise our Copperhead friends to endeavor to procure a piece of Mrs. Surratt's old dress or a lock of her hair from the hand of J. Wilkes Booth for their speakings to exhibit. Dirt is enthusiastic could be raised among the faithful by exhibiting such precious Democratic relics.—Albany Journal

General Grierson, the great cavalry raider, has been nominated by the Secretary of War for Col of cavalry in the regular army. This was done on recommendation of Gen. Grant.

NEVERMORE can the coarse gritty tooth powders and tooth destroying chemical fluids find a place on the toilets of sensible people. The fragrant and preservative Sozodont has superseded them all.

State Items.

There is a Catholic nunnery at Lake Labish, in this county, which is said to bring a wonderful deal more than any other routine occupation of the kind ever did in the State. By the way, no one calls it Labish now, and it seems to only be a question of time when the Catholic Church will be the only religious denomination in the county. The company of Catholic nuns and sisters have gone through a gain on his promises because they carried the stars and stripes.

We learn from Rev. P. R. Knight, that the Or. Congregational Association will commence its regular annual session for the current year, at Portland, on the 21st of June next. Ministers of other orders and all persons interested, are invited to attend.

AN ESTABLISHED REMEDY.—"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are widely known as an established remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, and other troubles of the Throat and Lungs. Their good reputation and extensive sale has brought out imitations, represented to be the same. OBTAIN only "Brown's Bronchial Troches."

THE PLACE FOR PICURES.—If in search of a delightful picture, the only place to get a beautiful, true and artistic PICTURE of yourself is at BELL'S WORTH & CARDWELL'S PHOTOGRAPHIC GALLERY, 59 First Street. The elegant specimens that daily emanate from their establishment command the admiration alike of artists and connoisseurs. Any child can also be brought in the morning. Clear or cloudy weather makes no difference as to the quality of the picture.

THE CROPS OF THE COUNTRY.—It appears that Oregon is not the only place in the country which has been the scene of singular freaks of the weather for 1866. A letter from St. Joseph, on Lake Michigan states that the grain crop is destroyed there, and an Richard Cobden's former letter to the agricultural bureau that the grain crop in that section is a failure. This is the first season in the history of the country when the St. Joseph Valley has failed to produce a good crop. From information derived from various sources, we are led to believe that the grain and fruit crops of the entire Atlantic slope will be far below an average, the present year. From nearly every prominent locality in the East unfavorable reports have reached us, and as before there will be a demand for the coming immense crop of the Pacific Coast, for consumption in the United States. The Genesee Valley, New York State, which has been before been considered the greatest grain growing district in the world, has entirely failed. The crops of Colorado, which last year were barely saved from destruction by a small grub that fastened upon the destroyers, the grasshoppers—laying their eggs in their bodies and causing their death, are the year worse threatened by the grubs, which prove a greater pest than the insects they killed. In Virginia the wheat crop has utterly failed, leaving no hope for an average yield. In all parts of that State extensive preparations are being made to plant a great breadth of land in tobacco and there is reason to hope that an unusually large crop of this valuable staple will be made, relieving to some extent the consequences of the failure of the wheat crop. We venture to say that in no region in the world has there ever been a yield of grain to equal, in proportion to the number of acres, the crop of this State at present growing and the crop of California promises to be larger than any ever heretofore raised, so it will be seen the same reports do not apply to sections of the Pacific Coast.

THE RIVER.—After remaining at a standstill for three days, the water in the river at this city again began to rise on Saturday last, and yesterday was six inches higher at noon than at any other time the present season. The total high tide for the week was 10 feet 8 inches. Total above the highest mark of 1865, (June 10th,) 10 inches. The prospects for a continued rise, it seems, is doubtful, are rather dread. That year the water continued to increase from the 21st day of May until the 16th day of June. On the 26th of May the snow was reported of the Blue Mountains, and from that date the volume of water was increased from the Columbia river from the 6th of June until the 12th, the river gradually rising, and was but 17 feet 8 inches low mark on the 14th of June, when it began again to rise. Should the river arrive, in the next eight or ten days, at a rate more equal to that of 1865, it is safe to calculate that no material damage will be done, but should it continue in the same proportion, until the middle of next month we may begin to look for more water than is required, either for the purpose of navigation, or as a beverage.

MARVELER IN BOTANY.—The following from a Marysville paper, shows the result of planting shade trees in a city. We commend it to the careful perusal of our own citizens. All may peruse can enjoy the beautiful works of nature, combined with art, most certainly our city can present a scene at the present time, worthy of attention but how few our streets and avenues are in their full bloom, while the shrubbery in our private and public gardens cannot fail to attract the admiration of the beholder. The very atmosphere is made fragrant by the flower and blossoms, while the warblers of the forest and their lonely recreate and fever-retired sections of our smallest city with their presence. We live in a pleasant but, almost flowing with milk and honey, and no angel might tread upon our soil." The allegation to produce these features of natural beauty in this city has become very strongly evinced among our inhabitants, and we desire to encourage the principle.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.—We presume of course the people of our city will celebrate the coming anniversary of National Independence, but it may be deemed too early to begin arrangements. It has been suggested that the present would be a favorable time, however, for raising funds for that purpose. We give the suggestion publicity, and our patriotic citizens can think about it. The day will be celebrated at Olympia, by a party at the Olympia in the evening, the proceeds of which will be devoted to purchasing a hose-carriage and hose for the new engine company at that place. The ladies of Olympia have the honor of taking the lead in this matter, and the patriotic ways in many other places are due to the ladies in their noble spirit, that the citizens look with confidence to a happy consummation of their efforts on the coming fourth.

IN LUCK.—A gentleman of our acquaintance, says the Nevada Transcript, became excited, as everybody does once in a while, on the subject of quartz. He invested some half hundred dollars a few weeks ago, and paid as much more for a half interest. On Saturday last he was offered the sum of $4,000 for his interest. He refused to sell, remarking that if he held on a while he could get $10,000 cash. We know of numerous parties in this city who would think a million is but a short distance beyond the end of one's hand.

BOILER FOR SALE.—Finding that the increasing work of the OREGONIAN establishment requires a greater amount steam than is furnished by the boiler we have in use, arrangements have been made for putting in one of greater capacity, and the small boiler will be disposed of on favorable terms. It is suitable for many purposes, is in good condition, having been in use but a short time, and will be sold low on application at this office. The boiler is five feet long, 32 inches in diameter, has fourteen flues and a half inches, and is of the best quality of iron.

NEW BOARD OF OFFICERS.—The stockholders of the O. C. M. R. Company met at their office in Eugene city on the 5th, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Board of Directors, H. E. Stratton, A. S. Patterson, J. A. Chapman, J. R. Bayley, J. G. Gray, Stephen Hughes, T. D. Edwards; H. E. Stratton was chosen President; A. S. Patterson, Vice President; J. B. Underwood, Secretary; M. Parsons, Treasurer; R. J. Pengra, Attorney.

LUMBER.—The mills of our city are now running with increased facilities, and begin to feel with building material continue to reach our wharves from mills on the Columbia river, and yet the market for lumber is firm. Yesterday the Gen. Grant arrived from Westport with a large heavily loaded, for Ainsworth & Co. The mill of Messrs. Burbaugh & Bittel, since it was so thoroughly repaired, is now doing better business than any time previous since its construction.

CHIEF AND HEAD CHIEF AND HAWKINS.—Gov. Gibbs and Gen. Hawkins, who have been for sometime on a tour through the valley, will reach Portland in a day or two, and will speak on Thursday evening. We call the attention of our friends in the country, as well as in the city, to this appointment, and hope that they will all attend the meeting. Speeches of unusual interest and ability may be expected. Of the place of speaking timely notice will be given.

THE SCHOOL MEETING.—At the school meeting last evening the directors were authorized to purchase block 80, in addition of Ninth and O streets, at a cost of $4,400, for the use of the district. A tax of 2½ mills on the taxable property of the district was ordered, to pay for the block, pay indebtedness, and the board as the directors might require for building purposes.

THE MISSING BOY.—No tidings of the son of Captain Smith, who was lost on Saturday morning, had been obtained up to last evening. It is barely possible that he with, having taken passage in some skiff going out of port. Parsons who steamed boats to visit the city, and those who may be in the habit of rowing to the river, are requested to give any information concerning the boy they may be possessed of.

EAGLE CREEK.—Messrs. Upton and Mulkey spoke at the Union Club last evening to a large audience. This evening Hon. J. R. Mitchell who has just returned from a tour to the southern part of the State, will deliver an address. An excellent speech may be anticipated. Give him a good audience.

RECORDER'S COURT.—But two cases were on trial before Recorder Hoffman, yesterday. Jack Rowell, an Indian, was sent to jail for ten days upon conviction of an assault upon a white boy. Frank O'Brown was committed five days for disorderly conduct.

THE VANCOUVER EXCURSION.—Capt. Turnbull has consented that to give up so, and will go on that excursion on the 3d, weather permitting. Should the day prove unfavorable, then the 10th will be fixed upon as the day.

THE WASHINGTON GUARD BALL.—Arrangements are now complete for the opening of Oro Fino Hall to-morrow evening. Dancing will begin at 8½ o'clock. Tickets may be had of any member of the Guard.

FLAGGIFICATION.—The Irish ladies of Portland will present a beautiful Irish flag to the Fenian Guard on Thursday evening, at Oro Fino Hall, after which there will be dancing until 12 o'clock.

THE RUSH.—The new propeller Commodore Perry, now nearly ready for engaging in the incidental portion of the street work, is a trim built ship as one may see in watching the progress of the work.

FLOATING ISLANDS.—The drift and rubbish in the river yesterday rather suggestively reminded one of a name which called "floating islands," and was all well enough except as regarded the fruit.

THE DREDGE BOAT.—The committee on river improvements, we learn have contracted with Mr T J Dodge for the construction of the new dredge boat, at a cost of $3,475.

A MEMBER from San Francisco received yesterday, states that the steamer California sailed for Victoria on the 26th, inst., at 10 A. M., with 100 passengers.

BOOTS AND SHOES.—The advertisement of Messrs Bolter & Kase, which appears in our columns to-day, speaks for itself.

THE MADISON SALOON has removed to the corner of Taylor and Front streets. See advertisement.

Go to hear Hon. J. R. Mitchell to-night.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of HEALTH. "But how?" you ask; We answer, 'tis no easy task:
Strengthen the Stomach, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day,
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with rollroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
The Victory o'er Disease to won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
IN HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air
Drink not mankind the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the surest antidote.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of malodorous water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysentric pains,
Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Naught conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhœa that cannot be
Cured by obstructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Horrids of madness or the tomb!
For these—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at hand we tell,
Hostetter's Bitters—medicine sure,
Not to pretend, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Men or Women, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households here, in regions new,
And to others in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground,
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and to like aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. They will not deceive a shade after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

More Proof.

There are a few men in Linn county who yet tend to doubt the truth of the evidence we published last week proving the existence of an oath bound, treasonable organization. Those whose names were made public denied to at the time knowledge of such an organization; a little others who are known to belong and avowedly the first to assert disloyal sentiments have since denied any connection with the aspiring office seeking class. And they deny all complicity with such detestable and danger ous conspiracies is not at all surprising. They know the sentiments which will surely follow the development of their guilty secrets. They know that the ghastly skeleton of treason owned by them will be exposed to the light of day and held up with scorn before the people. It will haunt them by day and by night—waking or sleeping, at home or abroad—as the skeleton of the dark plot conceived in their secret councils during the civil war in Oregon in the horrors of a civil war, for the purpose of adding the counties of their county will shrink from it on a small notice to insure them till their symbolic snare had dwindle and excited denunciations in all that could be expected of them. We were not willing to suppose that Mr. Holm would acknowledge the truth of Mr. Markham's statements. For him to do so would be to drive away from his party a host of honest men, whose votes he must have or his defeat for the office to which he aspires is doubly certain. He will deny it of course he will, so will Jason Wheeler another Democratic candidate we expect we can prove it by Mr. Wm. Kirk, one of the Counties that Mr. Wheeler acknowledged to be the third in a specimen of the order and we have proved by Mr Markham that Mr. Holm was an officer in the treasonable order How do they defend the sound in the face of such evidence? Will Mr. Wheeler dare to come out and deny what he told Mr Combs and Mr Jerrell Wee shall see. Another witness to whom we ran will be Mr. Hogg Mosey, is adding new testimony. He has said that he was a member of the treason plotting organization and had been at several of their meetings in the Forks of the Santiam. The object of these meetings was to counsel together in regard to reading the draft and resisting non war. Mr. Moore has stated these facts and no one proved it brought upon the witness stand, Mr Moore will be very likely to make the same statements up to such like Mr. Markham, he was deceived into taking the obligations by being told that there was nothing treasonable in the intentions or designs of the leaders in the conspiracy, and he now acts with the Union party and will vote the Union ticket, knowing that he is voting for a loyal man and against traitors. If other proof is necessary it will be easy to adduce Mr Thomas Caton, a leading Democrat of Marion county, acknowledged to the editor of the Statesman, in the presence of witnesses, that he himself organized lodges of the Old Guard in Polk county. He also said that the object of the organization was to resist the draft and to resist the United States Government in case there should be an effort made to arrest men for treason. With all this accumulation of evidence before their eyes, men who support the Democratic ticket do so understandingly None can plead ignorance as an excuse for voting for men who have been engaged in a conspiracy against the lives of their neighbors and the liberty of their country Will they vote with willing members of this treason-plotting, oath-bound, arson-organization do deny all knowledge of the existence of such an order?

"Thus do all traitors
If their purgation did consist in words
They are as innocent as grace itself."

Who ever heard of a band of conspirators giving evidence against themselves when arraigned for their crimes. A man may be deceived and commit a wrong, and become convinced of that wrong, and warn others to shun the dangerous path he has traveled; but while he wilfully and knowingly continues to pursue his guilty course, he is not likely to convince himself by his own testimony, unless it is done in a spirit of dodging or bombast By conclusion we will say to those who are arraigned for their intention to hold them to their record—"Nothing accusonate or set down aught in malice;" and we are willing to trust the candid judgment of honest men for the result We intend to "fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."—Albany Journal

To the Public

Mr. B. S. Markham publishes the following letter in the Albany Journal of the 22d inst.:

ALBANY, May 24th, 1866.

Having been informed that it is being reported that I have retracted the statements which were published in the Albany Journal, of May 15th, over my signature, exposing the schemes of the treasonable organization into which I was initiated in the office of Cranor & Helm in the town of Albany, I deem it my duty to publicly pronounce such report false. The statements contained in my communication to the Journal, above referred to, I here reiterate. They are true, and I will make whatever oath to them if necessary George N. Holm knows they are true. He was the man who with all solemnity administered to me the oath of secrecy, I having first been assured that there was nothing treasonable in the order Afterwards I learned that the sequences that had been given were false by the instructions given me to give to the rebels on the battle field to make them know I was their friend With all the evidence now before the public, proving the existence of this treasonable order in Oregon, I am surprised that some have attempted to make it appear that Mr. Holm was merely perpetrating a little joke upon me. I knew and Mr Helm and others knew that the meeting I attended was a secret, plotting and treasonable. If voluntarily going over to the enemies of our country upon the field of battle is treason

We hereby certify that we have been personally acquainted with Mr. S. S. Markham, many years for a period of fifteen years, and that his reputation for truth of an honest, truthful, and upright man. We know him to be in every way worthy of confidence and belief. J. H. Foster, A. Hamm, John Smith, G. H. Baker, J. Hendershall, Hilton Hale, D. Broman, E. H. Griffin, D. Beach, D. R. Freeland, D. H. Hodge, W. Montmil, J. C. Powell, Thomas Monteith, D. D. Gray, John Fowler

More Democratic Treason.

We have already published some of the developments made by the Provost Marshal of the treasonable societies organized by the copperheads of Oregon, during the war. In this county they took refuge in the stable of old John Edmunds, and there along with "Warnick Bays," they preserved the "time-honored principles of Democracy." They buried in lucrative 150 guns, with which they intended to slay their neighbors as their "Southern brethren" were doing in Missouri and Kentucky. Now those same John Edmunds Democrats have brought their principles out of the stable, and are peddling them over the country, and asking the people to buy, telling them that they are "Union." They brought their secession guns into the State in boxes labeled "Sewing Machine," and now they are labeled "Union." John Edmunds is the leader of the party in this county—the ablest "Constitutional" exponent they have, and they are greatly indebted to him for preserving in this stable, during the "abolition war," the "time-honored principles" which they are now peddling out. These secret treasonable societies were organized all over the country, and their members were sworn to support the Confederacy, and to resist the draft, and assist in overthrowing the Government of the United States. They had a little Southern Confederacy organized in Oregon, and had a mail to carry the rich traitorable letters and plots from one society to another. An old copperhead, living in this county, made regular trips once a month from this place to Jacksonville, Southern Oregon, two years. He was their representative. They carried their plots so far that many of the leaders of the party, like John Minnigh, Fay, O'Meara, and the slaves Democrats who have negro wives, some of whom are candidates on the Democratic ticket, could be arrested and tried for treason, instead of being permitted to preach copperheadism over the country. The fact that Democrats who have joined with the union has become so plain that the more respectable members of the party no longer deny it. Mr. S. S. Markham, of Linn county, who is well known throughout the State as a truthful man, makes a statement which is published in the Albany Journal of the 25th inst., and which may be found elsewhere in these columns "Democracy" is everywhere the same treasonable, diabolical organization. Slavery may have been "the sum of all villainies" in its life time; but when it died all the meanness which it contained evidently went out of its defunct carcass into "Democracy." It is the surgery of treason, ignorance, stupidity, immorality and all the crimes known to civilization, as well as many, known only to savages.—State Journal.

Speeches of Mallory and Fay.

Last Thursday Hon Rufus Mallory, the Union candidate for Congress, and Fay, the Copperhead blackguard addressed the people of this county, on the political questions which now engross the attention of the country At least, Mallory discussed those questions and Fay devoted one hour and thirty minutes to denouncing and abusing Union men, in true "Democratic" style The sum and substance of his "speech"—if the blackguard slang and smutty "anecdotes" of a low-bred ruffian, can be so styled—amounted to this: "You are a liar"—"the pup"—"the pig"—"Abolition—Nigger"—"Nigger Suffrage"—"Nigger Equality," more "Nigger." The "pig anecdote" was understood by the knowing ones, to be a slap at Bennin O'Meara, Fay's Lord Lieutenant. It was understood that "Nigger Equality" was brought in to illustrate a passage in Fay's own history when he crossed the plains in company with a negro, and continued to spoon on the darkey after their arrival in Oregon, until the aforesaid negro turned him off and refused to associate with him any longer. The opinion expressed by Senator Nesmith, some years ago, that "Fay is a cross between a rat-terrier and a ringed-tailed monkey," is the best description which we have yet seen of the animal.—State Journal.

RECONSTRUCTED MISSISSIPPI.—As an evidence of the manner in which Mississippi has been "reconstructed," and of the kind of material, out of which it has been done, take the following testimony from Wm. S. Sharkey, late Provisional Governor of that State:

Q.—If you have no objection, please state what you know in regard to the persons now here claiming seats in Congress from Mississippi. A.—I have no objection to state what I know; Alcorn, my colleague in the United States Senate, was an old Whig, and was very much opposed to rebellion and secession and, to this party that brought it about; the Representatives elected to the House of Representatives, without exception, were opposed to secession, they all belonged to the anti-secession party. our people were particularly astonished by me that they ought not to send men here who were tinctured or stained of with secession, and not one of our delegation, I think had any connection with secession, they were all opposed to it; they were all Whigs, except one, who was a John Democrat; the Whig party, as a general thing, sold clear of the odium of secession. I will state this several of these gentlemen, however, engaged in the rebellion after it came on. Colonel Reynolds and Colonel Deason left command of regiments in the Confederate service, when the State went out. I suppose they felt that they should go with their State. I do not remember, that any other of them was in the rebellion, Alcorn, my colleague, was in the militia, but I do not know that he ever held a commission in the Confederate service.

Q.—What are the facts in regard to Governor Humphreys and the present State Government generally? Is it composed of men who are opposed to secession, or men who favored it? A.—In regard to Governor Humphreys there was no man in the State of Mississippi more opposed to secession than he was and I will tell you more he did not believe that the Confederacies could establish a Government if they were successful but he told me at the time that himself some months before the rebellion closed. I know his antecedents well there was no man more opposed to secession than Governor Humphreys he was at last literally put into the rebellion by accident you might say he went out with a company as its Captain, and was promoted to be a General being a very popular man in the army, he was elected Governor by the militia; was, contrary to my wishes, he is a good man, an excellent man, and I believe he ardently desires to see harmony restored between the North and the South The State Government, with one exception, I regret to say, is in the hands of the conservative men, the Judges of the high Court of Errors were all secessionists, there was but a weak opposition to them, or they would not have been elected, they would have been beaten we really had no material of expectability to run against them, and they run in almost without opposition The Attorney General is in the same category; as to the minor officers I do not know so much about them, but the election of these Judges to the highest tribunal in the State was a very sore thing to many of us; but I will say this of them, they have given manifestations of an evident desire to return to the Union and to act as if all the conflict their error or fault is settled by me or two of them have been purchased by the Presidency and I think the country safe as any one

A Voice from an Ex Soldier

PORTLAND, May 21 1866

VICTOR CHRISTIAN

I notice that the copperhead paper of this place in its issue of this date fails not to make it appear that the so-called Democratic party has in on the only true friend that the common soldier has had during the late war That paper says that the Government promised the soldier twenty dollars per month and paid him in depreciated currency worth only fifty cents on the dollar that the Democratic members of Congress sought to have the wages of the soldier raised but were defeated by the radical majority I wish to say through your columns, that to my certain knowledge nine-tenths of the veterans of the late war for the Union who were living in this State regarded such imputation as the most unjust light that they did the assertion of a portion of the opposite party during the rebellion, that they were in favor of the war while they invariably opposed the most efficient means for its prosecution.

Since this Democratic organ has referred to the record of its party for proof of its readiness to fight it may be well to bring to mind a little. I remember a gathering of the loyal men of the town, and county soon after the commencement of the war, and in common with the rest of the community, and in before any in supposed to know something of the future to pay as well as the assistants of the soldiers After the first signal opposition to the suppression of the rebellion on the part of this party in point and count into full legal shilling party of which will be developed the war in its extent. No opposition but the legal tender note and render it difficult to procure soldiers, the pay was raised from thirteen dollars per month to sixteen dollars, per month for the private soldier Before the war the pay was eleven dollars per month In August, 1861, an act of Congress fixed the pay at thirteen dollars per month for three years, and at the same time it was limited in its extent No opposition was ever made to increase it further. For this increase of pay the soldiers thank the "radicals" in Congress The real inability for the addition which it makes to the public debt rests upon the rebels' allies at the North.

Now let us see what the Oregon Democracy did for the volunteers who left comfortable homes and pleasant and profitable occupations to serve their State and nation. At the beginning of the war all the regulars on the frontiers were called east, where experienced soldiers were greatly needed It was necessary to have volunteers in their stead. At that time there was but little talk of a Pacific Republic, and it was well known that the influence of Gen Lane, Senator Gwin and many other prominent men was thrown in the interests of the rebels, so that a band of arms had been sent out here by the Confederates. Under these circumstances, the Oregon Cavalry was organized, and such was the feeling here, that many of the best young men of the State and nation, actuated by patriotic motives, quitting employment which paid them from $30 to $100 per month, and entered the service for $13, furnishing each a horse and equipments for $12 additional per month. They were clerks, farmers, school-teachers, merchants, etc. Every Democratic newspaper in Oregon published articles denouncing said eldership as All of such writers are now Democrats, and many of them, we candidates for office. The sum of $25 per month would have been a very meagre compensation for the service of a man and his horse, even if paid in coin. At the beginning of the war, California gave her volunteers $8 additional per month. After the currency became greatly reduced by the issue of the Oregon Legislature passed a bill giving the same amount to her soldiers. This bill was opposed by every Democrat in the Legislature. At the last session of the Legislature, the Democratic members opposed every proposition in favor of the volunteers, and even voted against thanking them for their services James F. Fay and Lafayette Lane were the leaders of this opposition, and now they favor the reason inquisitive to ask us to vote for them! Be it remembered that we did not ask the Legislature to increase our pay, and we would have been just as prompt in responding to the country's call for half the sum paid by the General Government, but we desire our Copperhead friends to understand that we know who our true friends are, and that we are not to be ignorant as not to understand the ingratitude and unfeelingness under if Democrats for those "through whose patriotic, not mercenary or partizan services, the dignity of the Republic and the integrity of the Union were preserved."

In addition, let me say that we do not oppose these modern democrats because of their late unpatriotic record only, but also because we deserve the full accomplishment of the great object for which we took up arms, the permanent restoration of the Union. We do not forget that during the war these same men who now are loudest in denouncing us as Radicals and dismissionists, distantly told us that the Union could never be restored by force of arms and that consequently we were fighting a practical dismissionists We believe that the Union could be sustained. Our position enables us encouraged the rebels, that they held out to the bitter end. When there was no longer a hope of success on the battle field they surrendered—they were conquered. International law, common sense and right reason gives us the right to demand of our conquered belligerents such indemnity for the past and security for the future as we may deem necessary Now, we are not so foolish to suppose that the war has so far settled everything, that it is only necessary to restore our late enemies to their former rights, and we shall have our nation safe. It is well known that we seldom or never overcome laws and prejudices according to the testimony of the leading men of the South and of their southern friends, the war has decided just one thing, i. e. that the Union States are stronger than the dismissionists States. They claim that they have not changed their opinions as to the right, of secession and the sovereignty of the States This is human nature And it would only be human nature in them to repeat the effort to attempt at disunion, if in the future they should have a more favorable opportunity, or at least to assume their wan-dein-and re-establish slavery or exact compensation for emancipated slaves. Who will say that with the aid of the Copperheads of the North they might not be able to accomplish such object? Look at history. But the revolution of 1793 settle the difficulties of France? After the Roman Empire had been destroyed, the Saxons exercised by force of arms, a monarchy in England. The Franks did the same in Gaul, the Visigoths in Spain and the Ostrogoths and subsequently the Lombards in Italy A conquered people never lose the right to regain them-selves on their conquerors The late Confederate States will class themselves with Hungary and Poland, and teach their youth to revere the "Stars and Bars" as the ensign of a noble nation, cruelly crushed by lawless fanaticism Modern democracy sympathizes wholly with the South, and under the pretense (which is insulting to Western men) that Pope England rules the North, would beyond doubt, go over to the extreme of excluding the Eastern States from the Union. If any one doubts this, let him read the current literature and listen to the speeches of the Democracy.

Well now what is our remedy? We ask no indemnity for the past, further than the guarantees the States shall assist in paying the public debt which they have agreed to contract. As guarantees for the future it is necessary—

1st. That armed resistance to the government should be made odious This can be done by punishing some of the most prominent of the leading traitors, and excluding the rest of them forever from holding office, and by declaring all who participated in the rebellion from the elective franchise for a term of years

2d. That we abolish the present rule of representation, whereby one person in the Southern States has twice the political power possessed by one person elsewhere This can only be done by an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

3d. That no obligation incurred in aid of the rebellion, nor any compensation for slaves emancipated, shall ever be assumed by the United States.

These guarantees are demanded, not in a spirit of persecution or hatred we honor the gallantry and soldierly ability of our countrymen of the South, but we must place the seal of condemnation upon their political heresies Let them enjoy life, liberty and property, with uniform taxation, but as we have found the interest in their hands dangerous to our nation, we must keep the bullet from them till they can have time for sober reflection, their children after them will be untrammeled by the sins of their fathers, and in no distant future we will be a nation of brothers.

As in the disposition which is beyond upon those who take this view of reconstruction I shall not waste your space by nothing it. I consider it beneath the dignity of an American citizen to attempt an argument with one who, in a country ruled by reason, seeks to carry a point by denunciation.

Sometimes we are told that we should do so and so, because Lincoln, Seward, Johnson, or some other prominent man did so. This may be a good argument for men who have no judgment of their own. But those think differently who recollect that no man is free from fault or bias of some kind, and that every man is responsible for his own deeds Some of our public men—and this is particularly the case with some newspaper editors and writers—seem to think that the public mind is a dull, wax substance, which they can mould just as they will How often do we see them disappointed! President Tyler was so sure that he was popular with the people at the close of his administration, that he offered himself as a candidate for re-election, against all the regular nominees, and was obliged to withdraw for want of respectable support The American people have a way of thinking for themselves, sifting truth from falsehood, reason from sophistry they think and believe just as they please, and vote accordingly, no matter if they do displease somebody

But I have prolonged this note into a letter, and will close right here by saying that although I may never be a candidate for office, I shall never cast my vote for any man who affiliated with treason, and shall always use my influence to keep them out of office

VETERAN VOLUNTEER.

The following amendment, offered by Mr. Meredith of Oregon, a few weeks since, to the Army Bill, was agreed to by the Senate

That all officers who have served during the rebellion as volunteers in the armies of the United States, and who have been or who hereafter may be honorably mustered out of the volunteer service, shall be entitled to retain the official title, and upon occasions of ceremony to wear the uniform of the highest grade they have held by brevet or other commission in the volunteer service, in the case of officers of the regular army the volunteer rank shall be considered upon the Army Register, provided that these rights shall not entitle any officer to command, pay, or emoluments
